13 FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

14 (Violation of Local Ordinance on Business Premises)

15 7. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under Section 4955, 16 subdivision (j), because in July 2008, September 2008, and October 2008, he allowed his 17 employees, who had not obtained massage technician permits, to perform massages in violation 18 of Santa Ana Municipal Code Chapter 22-4. The circumstances are as follows:

19 A. On about January 16, 2008, Respondent was notified in writing by 20 the City of Santa Ana that illegal massage activity was occurring at his business, 21 located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California. This 22 business address was listed on Craigslist.org as offering massages by young Latina
23 and Asian girls.

24 B. On about July 24, 2008, at about 1915, Santa Ana Police Officers
25 entered the premises of Respondent's Health and Healing Center of Natural 26 Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, 27 California. The officers observed an outer client area and five rooms with 28 massage tables and oils. No doctor or acupuncturist was present on the premises.

1 The officers spoke with three women who admitted giving massages to clients,
2 and who also admitted not having permits from the City of Santa Ana to do so.

3 C. On about September 17, 2008, at about 1500, three undercover
4 police officers with the Santa Ana Police Department Vice Unit and Southcoast
5 Directed Patrol, entered the premises of Respondent's Health and Healing Center
6 of Natural Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, 7 California. The officers asked if they could have massages with separate girls,
8 were told they could, and were given massage client forms to complete. No
9 doctor was present on the premises. None of the female employees had massage 10 technician permits.

11 (1) While on the premises of Respondent's business, the officers noted a
12 City of Santa Ana Business License issued to Health and Healing Center of 13 Natural Medicine, hanging on the wall in the reception area. On the same wall
14 hung certificates from the Acupuncture Board for Respondent and another 15 acupuncturist. Also in the reception area was a sign-in sheet with the names of 16 the clients, the corresponding name of the masseuse, and whether the service
17 provided was a half-hour or hour. The officers further observed there were five 18 client rooms, only one of which contained implements used for the purpose of 19 acupuncture. Each room had a bed or table to lie on, stands with shelves for 20 towels and lotions, and a small lamp for lighting. In addition, there was a 21 bathroom and a table shower on which clients could lie down and be washed with 22 a water device located in the shower.

23 (2) While on the premises of Respondent's business, one officer entered a 24 room where he found a nude male lying on his back on a massage table with a 25 small towel covering his genitals. The male client informed the officer he had 26 paid $60 for a one-hour massage and an extra $40 for a "release", known to the 27 officer as a "happy ending" or when a masseuse or prostitute masturbates a client
28 to orgasm. The male client stated he had learned about the business through

1           Craigslist on the Internet. The male client identified one of the female employees
2           as the one who had given him the “happy ending.”

3           (3) Three of the female employees were arrested for performing massages
4           without a permit. Following their arrests, the women were interviewed and stated
5           that Respondent came to the business once a week for about one hour per day.
6           There was also a manager who came every morning to set the women’s schedules 7           and pick up the money the women had earned from the previous day.

8           (4) While on the premises of Respondent’s business, the officers
9           discovered in the room labeled “Doctor,” the second acupuncturist massaging a 10          clothed female whom, minutes before, the officers had seen inside the reception 11          area.

12          D.       On about October 23, 2008, at about 1700, Detective J. Gonzalez, 13          an undercover officer with the Santa Ana Police Department Vice Unit, entered 14          the premises of Respondent’s Health and Healing Center of Natural Medicine, 15          located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California. He was 16          greeted by a female and was asked if he wanted a massage from a Chinese girl, to 17          which he said, “Yes.” He was then asked if he wanted a half-hour or full hour, 18          was charged $40, paid with a marked $100 bill, and was walked to a room where 19          he was told to undress. The officer initially kept his shorts on. When the girl 20          entered the room, she told him to take off his shorts because she was going to 21          massage his buttocks; he complied with the request. As she began the massage, 22          she informed the officer she was going to get another girl to help her “finish” him 23          at the end of the massage. At that point, Detective Gonzalez asked to use the 24          restroom where he signaled the other officers with the Santa Ana Police 25          Department Vice Unit and Northeast Directed Patrol.

26          (1) About five minutes after the Detective Gonzalez entered Respondent’s 27          premises, Detective F. Hashempour, a second undercover officer with the Santa 28          Ana Police Department Vice Unit, entered the premises, was greeted by a man

1 sitting behind the reception desk and a woman. The man, later identified as a 2 chiropractor, asked if the officer wanted a half-hour massage or an hour. The 3 officer was not asked if he was in need of acupuncture services or chiropractic 4 services. The officer stated he wanted a half-hour, paid the man $40, signed the 5 sign-in sheet, and was directed to a room. After about five minutes, a female 6 employee entered to give him the massage. Detective Hashempour was then 7 alerted by Detective Gonzalez.

8 (2) While on the premises of Respondent's business, the officers noted a
9 City of Santa Ana Business License issued to Health and Healing Center of 10 Natural Medicine, hanging on the wall in the reception area. Also in the reception 11 area was a sign-in sheet with the names of the clients, the corresponding name of 12 the masseuse, and whether the service provided was a half-hour or hour. The 13 officers observed five client rooms, one of which was labeled "Doctor." Inside
14 this room, a chiropractor certificate was on the wall. The chiropractor was the man 15 seated at the reception desk when the undercover officers entered the premises.

16 (3) While on the premises of Respondent's business, the officers arrested 17 four female employees, all of whom admitted giving massages. Three of the 18 women did not have massage technician permits; the fourth allegedly had a permit 19 but stated the doctor told her she would not need it because there would be a 20 doctor on site. No doctor or acupuncturist was present on the premises.

21 E. On about October 23, 2008, Respondent was again notified in 22 writing by the City of Santa Ana that unlawful massage activity was occurring at 23 his Health and Healing Center of Natural Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central 24 Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California.

25 SECOND CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

26 (Act Involving Corruption)

27 8. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4955.1, 28 subdivision (c), because in about December 2006, he used his acupuncture license to obtain a

1 City of Santa Ana Business license for an unlawful massage business at his Health and Healing
2 Center of Natural Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, 3 California.

4 9. Respondent is further subject to disciplinary action under section 4595.1, 5 subdivision (c), because from about December 2006 to about November 14, 2008, he authorized
6 illegal massage activity at his Health and Healing Center of Natural Medicine, located at 1155
7 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California, as more particularly described above in 8 paragraph 7 and all of its subparts.

9 THIRD CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

10 (False Advertising)

11 10. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4955,
12 subdivision (c), because from about July 2008 through October 2008, Respondent committed 13 false and/or misleading advertising by the signage at his Health and Healing Center of Natural 14 Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California, which 15 advertised his office as providing therapeutic acupressure, acupuncture and pain management 16 along with massage, when no therapeutic acupressure, acupuncture and pain management was 17 practiced at that location.

18 FOURTH CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

19 (Fraud or Dishonest Act)

20 11. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4955.1,
21 subdivision (b), because in about December 2006, he obtained a City of Santa Ana Business
22 License for his Health and Healing Center of Natural Medicine, located at 1155 W. Central 23 Avenue, Suite 214, in Santa Ana, California, by describing the business as acupuncture when he 24 knew the license was for an unlawful massage business.
